

Marc Savatsky

Construction, development & owner-side perspective

Resume placeholder — source-backed experience summary

This document is a concise summary of publicly published biographical information. It is not Marc's approved employment resume. Replace it with his final resume before public launch. Employment dates, current construction-license status, detailed project scope, and role chronology require Marc's confirmation.

Professional overview

Marc Savatsky's Choose Boston biography identifies him as a Boston-based developer, broker, and licensed contractor. It describes experience assessing development sites, financial modeling, zoning analysis, project permitting, construction cost estimating, and project management.

His published developer interview describes acting as his own general contractor and working as an owner's representative. BostonVoyager's profile discusses renovations of property he owned and development of residential condominiums. These sources support experience from both the contractor's and the owner's perspective; they do not establish a complete current employment history.

Education

B.S., Construction Management — Purdue University

Listed in Marc's official Choose Boston biography. Graduation year is not confirmed and is intentionally omitted.

Published experience areas

- Development site assessment and zoning analysis
- Project permitting and construction estimating
- Construction project management and owner's representation
- Residential renovation and multifamily development
- Hands-on property ownership and general contracting

Industry education & media

Co-host of Real Estate Addicts with Ray Hurteau and Dan Rubin, verified through Apple Podcasts. Featured in an O’Kane Marketing developer interview, BostonVoyager profile, and Design Development podcast appearance.

Contact

Public Choose Boston contact: marcsavatsky@gmail.com · (617) 388-9336

[CONFIRM: preferred business contact, current credentials, full employment history, dates, project details, and approved final resume]

Sources

- Official Choose Boston biography
- O’Kane Marketing developer interview
- BostonVoyager interview
- Apple Podcasts — Real Estate Addicts
- Design Development podcast appearance

Research accessed October 14, 2026. First-property dates differ across published interviews and are intentionally omitted.